Master Sculptor to Exhibit at Two Moon Gallery

-- Global Influence with Tennessee Roots, Wood Sculptor Brad Sells --

Nashville, Tenn. –Two Moon Gallery exhibits nationally talented wood sculptor Brad Sells, of Cookeville on Thursday, August 12 from 5 – 9 p.m.

The native Tennessean travels the world to find the perfect fallen wood to craft his vessels. Sells' sculptures can be found in numerous exhibits and collections worldwide including the Smithsonian Institution.

The Brad Sells exhibition will run from August 12 – September 16, 2010. For more information on Brad Sells, or any other Two Moon Gallery artist, please contact us at (615) 942-5352 located at 2905 12th Avenue South #108, Nashville or visit us online at www.twomoongallery.com.

About Two Moon Gallery

Two Moon Gallery represents a select number of strong American artists who have a variety of styles and approaches. Each member of this contemporary gallery uses his and her own unique voice and technique in striving toward a national career. Two Moon primarily operates as a consignment gallery representing some of the nation's finest artists. Secondly, the gallery leases the space out for merchants and small events for two evenings, while featuring the beautiful artwork. Lastly, Two Moon leases walls for a period of two evenings to artists who would simply like to show their work for a one-time only show select months of the year.

About the Owner

Hal Pickel initially began his career in advertising as an art director, only painting for creative release. After years of burning the candle at both ends, he broke away to paint full-time and pursued his passion capturing the rural American farm. Since becoming an artist full-time, he was now able to grow his passion and create a space where other great contemporary American artists from across the country could display their work. Two Moon Gallery, LLC is owned and operated by Hal Pickel and his wife, Rachel.
