Nature Refined at Two Moon Gallery

Exhibition Featuring Botanicals by Kerry Schroeder and Wildlife by Diana Tremaine

Nashville, Tenn. –Sometimes Mother Nature needs a hand – maybe two sets of hands. These two artists breathe refinement and add a touch of abstract appeal to living creatures, furred, feathered or seeded. The Schroeder/Tremaine opening night will be Thursday, June 23 from 5:30 – 8:30 p.m.

Kerry Schroeder of Austin, Texas paints a unique perspective of botanicals juxtaposed with abstract elements. More than just pretty florals and leaves, Schroeder gives her subjects emotion, speaking to the viewer as though they were friends.

Diana Tremaine of Bozeman, Montana paints wildlife and captures their essence first hand. Layered abstract strokes of color and mimicked movement lines made in charcoal, Tremaine's wildlife move off the canvas and into the viewer's space.
